New Queuing System for the Development Services Center!

We are excited to announce that the city of Las Vegas will launch a new queuing system for the DSC (Development Services Center) that we are calling Quick Pass.

Effective Tuesday, October 9, 2018, customers will be able to check in for DSC services remotely from their offices and see the number of customers waiting to be served, as well as, estimated wait times. Services provided through this system include entitlements (variance, special use request and other planning requests); building and civil permits for construction; cashiering/acceptance of payments for those projects; business licensing; and zoning questions.

The ticket options will look like this:

Please Select One Category of Services
